Dear Mr. [REDACTED]:

Pursuant to your letter of 11 August 1953, a check of the various possibilities for solving the problem has been made here, with the result that it has been decided to change the double-acting doors to single action, applying the detail of the exterior jams and lintels and adjusting the hardware to suit the change in other respects.

Unless work on the fabrication of doors and trim has commenced, it is assumed that no extra cost will be involved and the matter can be handled as a Field change. If either the metal work or hardware changes require the issuance of a change order proposal, please advise, in order that we may proceed with the issuance of an order.

Very truly yours,
